Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Wednesday 27 Jan 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Heavy rain overnight and into the morning.

This Evening and Tonight:
Starting largely dry for many. Overnight an area of rain will bring heavy downpours across the region through the night, falling as snow over the Pennines and Lake District Fells. Winds strengthening. Minimum temperature 3 deg C (37 deg F).

Thursday:
Rain and hill snow will slowly clear to the northeast, lingering longest over Cumbria. Dry for a spell before further rain arrives in the evening. Breezy. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Occasional rain and hill snow on Friday. Fine on Saturday with frost early and late. Sunday starting dry and cold, but a risk of snow later.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.